MrChase	1/24/2011	7:02 PM	#engchat Hey all, let's do this. What non-traditional tools do you rely on in the English classroom?
seanmccomb	1/24/2011	7:03 PM	Looking for poem suggestions, anyone want to share their favorites? #engchat michelleleandra	1/24/2011	7:04 PM	@seanmccomb #engchat Any particular theme or course for poetry recs?
SlazarOtC	1/24/2011	7:04 PM	My non-traditional tool for the English classroom is using my history class to teach English! Wasn't assigned any English this year #engchat thereadingzone	1/24/2011	7:04 PM	This year I am relying on Edmodo a lot. My freshman have really taken to it. I just wish it threaded discussions! #engchat seanmccomb	1/24/2011	7:05 PM	I really enjoy using The Kite Runner...leads to a lot of re-examining of assumptions, stereotypes. Also great read that kids enjoy #engchat tkraz	1/24/2011	7:05 PM	group.ly for online class discussions and some writing. google forms to submit student generated quiz/test questions. #engchat thereadingzone	1/24/2011	7:05 PM	Most recently, I have started a book trailers group on Edmodo and I post a few/week. Kids reply if they want a bk. So far -great #engchat pete_rodrigues	1/24/2011	7:05 PM	#engchat non-traditional tool has been skype in journalism class to talk to pro journos. michelleleandra	1/24/2011	7:06 PM	@thereadingzone #engchat Awesome, how did you build connections with journalists? Students network or you?
thereadingzone	1/24/2011	7:07 PM	@tkraz Oh, I've started using google forms for HW, embedding questions on Edmodo. Love the timestamp-no more issues w/handing in #engchat MrChase	1/24/2011	7:07 PM	#engchat @thereadingzone Gotcha. Yeah #edmodo has been picking up steam. Have you e-mailed about threaded disc?
tkraz	1/24/2011	7:07 PM	New great read for freshmen this year - Absolutely True Diary of a Part-Time Indian #engchat bookyarncafe	1/24/2011	7:08 PM	@MrChase I AlphaSmarts. We have 3 & kids really know when need 2 use them (comp too distract/pencil not keeping ideas flowing) #engchat MrChase	1/24/2011	7:08 PM	#engchat @seanmccomb Do you have a copy of Poetry 180 for your class or Good Poems for Hard Times?
pete_rodrigues	1/24/2011	7:08 PM	I networked the connections this time, though I have had students email journos in the past as part of a role play assgmnt #engchat
JPPrezz	1/24/2011	7:09 PM	I like to us bubbl.us for mindmapping/prewriting. #engchat seanmccomb	1/24/2011	7:09 PM	Oh, tools :). My students create PbWorks wikis to publish work, comment/critique one another. Provides forum for no blog district #engchat michelleleandra	1/24/2011	7:09 PM	#engchat I was just going to suggest poetry 180 too: http://bit.ly/2pSC91 thereadingzone	1/24/2011	7:10 PM	I just started using http://crocodoc.com/ for grading/assessment. Love that I can upload an format,comment,+ share w/ kids securely #engchat pete_rodrigues	1/24/2011	7:10 PM	.@seanmccomb we've used "against forgetting" which focuses on the idea of "witness" powerful stuff http://amzn.to/etbmiN #engchat MrChase 1/24/2011 7:10 PM @intrepidteacher #engchat I don't think it counts as trad. just yet. And I'm the same.

moduffycobb 1/24/2011 7:11 PM @MrChase @intrepidteacher MOODLE! Going online together is fun and interactive in the ESL classroom. #engchat MrChase 1/24/2011 7:11 PM #engchat What non-electronic non-traditional tools are Eng teachers using this year that they couldn't do without?

michelleleandra 1/24/2011 7:11 PM #engchat With Octavia Butler's Kindred, created magazines 4 decades in Am. hist. & wrote stories abt modernr char. going back to that time pete_rodrigues 1/24/2011 7:12 PM this is super-trad (so trad its now non-trad? ;) and not necessarily a tool, but I've used harkness tables with my kids this yr. #engchat mrami2 1/24/2011 7:12 PM Dorothy Lange's photography used with "Marigolds" short story - powerful stuff. #engchat SlazarOtc 1/24/2011 7:12 PM @MrChase I'm using small student white boards to have students share out ideas in groups for 1st time. Seen good results. #engchat bookyarncafe 1/24/2011 7:12 PM u@JPPrezz just bookmarked bubbl.us Thanks! #engchat chadsansing 1/24/2011 7:13 PM #engchat @MrChase can't do w/o brushes, canvas, & paints for performance assessments of readings on art movements & DIY ekphrasi:

MrChase 1/24/2011 7:13 PM @slazarotc Yeah, I stumbled on these last week and they're really changing things. <http://ow.ly/3JueD> #engchat lhealigan 1/24/2011 7:13 PM #engchat sonnet illuminations: kids make linked annotations on class wiki for lit devices, cultural notes. explication next.. michelleleandra 1/24/2011 7:13 PM @mrami2 #engchat Really great idea! The photography really brings the time period to life...my students looked at it for magazine proj.

JPPrezz 1/24/2011 7:13 PM @bookyarncafe There are a few other sites and downloads similar, but bubbl.us is my fav. #engchat

PaulWHankins 1/24/2011 7:14 PM When we see clipboards as "portable workstations," we expand the notion of what "classroom/workspace" looks like. #engchat

JPPrezz 1/24/2011 7:14 PM i know it's traditional, but I can't live w/o dialectical journals. #engchat lhealigan 1/24/2011 7:15 PM @mrami2 one of my dreams too--kids do not even fit into old desks either. #engchat pete_rodrigues 1/24/2011 7:15 PM saw my room partner use cubes - one set with story titles, another set with lit elem for midterm review #engchat

PaulWHankins 1/24/2011 7:15 PM StickyNotes are great (particularly the lined variety for older students) for thought capture and what we call StickyNote Theater. #engchat

MrChase 1/24/2011 7:15 PM @jpprezz I don't know that enough teachers would consider those traditional, but I'm right there with you. #engchat

SlazarOtc 1/24/2011 7:15 PM @MrChase It's changed my Think/Pair/Shares from solely a thinking exercise to also a writing one #engchat

JPPrezz 1/24/2011 7:15 PM RT @PaulWHankins: When we see clipboards as "portable workstations," we expand the notion of what "classroom/workspace" looks like. #engchat bookyarncafe 1/24/2011 7:15 PM therapy balls (currently have 2) and are looking for other seating options are my non traditional non tech go-to items (7th grade) #engchat pete_rodrigues 1/24/2011 7:15 PM @mrami2 just make them a table - we move them all the time. #engchat seanmccomb 1/24/2011 7:16 PM I implemented reading personally chosen text with theme based lit circles, after seeing idea from @MrChase's classroom. <3 choice. #engchat thereadingzone 1/24/2011 7:16 PM Most important non-tech tool in my room is my classroom library. #engchat

JPPrezz 1/24/2011 7:16 PM @MrChase I probably rely on them too much, but they're great for getting kids to think critically about literature. #engchat

MrChase 1/24/2011 7:16 PM @chadsansing That's great. Do you have that written up somewhere that we could see and replicate it? #engchat

MrChase 1/24/2011 7:17 PM Building off of what @PaulWHankins just said, what kind of out-of-class experiences do your students get? #engchat bookyarncafe 1/24/2011 7:17 PM @PaulWHankins I agree! Students really like clipboards -- somehow a novel idea to them (to quote you "See what I did there?") #engchat

Edu_Traveler 1/24/2011 7:17 PM My most important non-tech tool has always been flipchart paper and lots of markers #engchat #engchat

SlazarOtc 1/24/2011 7:17 PM @thereadingzone We started using pop YA lit for independent reading in my Bronx HS this year. It's transformed it #engchat

JPPrezz 1/24/2011 7:17 PM @PaulWHankins one of my colleagues does a sticky note activity with her honors freshmen. great stuff! #engchat

PaulWHankins 1/24/2011 7:17 PM I have a "Thinking Wall" in Room 210 that's filled w/ words and images from Mental Floss, Psychology Today, writing magazines. #engchat bookyarncafe 1/24/2011 7:18 PM @PaulWHankins I use the lined sticky notes, but would love to hear more about "sticky note theater" #engchat

Edu_Traveler 1/24/2011 7:18 PM @SLazarOtc @thereadingzone What are some YA titles that really worked for your students? #engchat PaulWHankins 1/24/2011 7:20 PM Our Room 210 Thinking Wall. Ever evolving collage. <http://on.fb.me/fwb2Ve> An invitation to stop, look, write. #engchat pete_rodrigues 1/24/2011 7:20 PM kids love Perks of Being a Wallflower but we are facing a challenge from a parent #engchat tkraz 1/24/2011 7:21 PM Had a student go trad today & bring in present for me "and everyone" - many different colors of dry erase markers! ... #engchat michelleleandra 1/24/2011 7:21 PM #engchat I've heard quite a few students like Alexie's "The Absolutely True Diary of a Part-Time Indian"

MrChase 1/24/2011 7:21 PM @SLazarOtc @Edu_Traveler #engchat Just read the first _Hunger Games_ book. #quality PaulWHankins 1/24/2011 7:21 PM @bookyarncafe We get into groups/break down sections of text (say, Act I of The Crucible). Each group renders in SN Stick Figures. #engchat

Edu_Traveler 1/24/2011 7:21 PM @JPPrezz Yes, flipchart paper forces collaboration and can be used on the floor, walls, tables or desks. #engchat mwacker 1/24/2011 7:22 PM @PaulWHankins can't see it but it sounds like a great way to engage and share in a safe non published environment #engchat tkraz 1/24/2011 7:22 PM @michelleleandra My guys (I teach all boys) loved it. Plenty to talk about after they got over the thought that it was "light" rdng #engchat MrChase 1/24/2011 7:39 PM @tmck76 #engchat Where can I read more about that?

 Edu_Traveler 1/24/2011 7:39 PM @MrChase Although I don't teach much anymore..but any chance I get I teach the multi-genre research paper. #engchat thereadingzone 1/24/2011 7:39 PM Most fun so far? Socratic Seminar based around Ibsen's Enemy of the People. Kids debated Wikileaks and right to know. #engchat pete_rodrigues 1/24/2011 7:40 PM journo kids wrote a feature on an aesop fable #engchat Tmck76 1/24/2011 7:40 PM The students will design their homework assignments and final assessment this year, too. #engchat Tmck76 1/24/2011 7:41 PM @MrChase Unfortunately, it's in my head and harddrive. Did it for the first time last year; the students and I both had so much fun!#engchat SLazarOtc 1/24/2011 7:41 PM @Edu_Traveler have done multi-genre around text, but not around research - can you explain more? #engchat thereadingzone 1/24/2011 7:41 PM My freshman had a lot of fun writing their own high school Canterbury Tales. They were hysterical! #engchat MrChase 1/24/2011 7:42 PM @tmck76 You've got to blog that! How else will it get borrowed and built upon? #engchat Tmck76 1/24/2011 7:42 PM I also love the memoir/personal narrative unit I do in the fall. It creates such a strong bond in the classroom. #engchat thereadingzone 1/24/2011 7:42 PM Oh, and my seniors chose a character from Hamlet and tweeted as them. Great analysis of characterization. #engchat Tmck76 1/24/2011 7:43 PM @MrChase If only I could stay up past 8! I tend to fall asleep putting my kids to bed. One of these days...#engchat SLazarOtc 1/24/2011 7:43 PM @Edu_Traveler duh. of course. great idea. #engchat bookyarncafe 1/24/2011 7:43 PM @thereadingzone I love that idea. We've used tweets for some humanities work (as historical figures). Fun! #engchat frankisiberson 1/24/2011 7:43 PM Considering trying pechakucha with 5th graders as part of their persuasive study. #engchat
